Appreciated "Last Summer"

• We would like to thank the CBC for putting on such a splendid program as that shown Monday evening, December 11, entitled Camera Canada, "Last Summer." The photography was wonderful, and a tremendous amount of time and patience must have gone into the making of such a picture. Many thanks to all concerned.

Also, we enjoyed the musical program put on by Leonard Bernstein (Saturday, Dec. 9) "Youth Concert." His explanations of Debussy's music were most enlightening. More programs of the same kind would be very welcome.—Mr. and Mrs. E.A., Red Deer, Alta.

• We would commend you on that wonderful program put on the CBC December 11, Camera Canada. It was a treat for young and old alike. Let us have more programs like this one, in the place of plays with murder scenes, bloodshed and cruelty. How are we ever going to have peace in this world while such trash is forced upon our children, who spend much of their time nowadays watching TV?

I would also like to comment on the showing of American football on Sundays. Is it compulsory to have this forced on Canadians, especially on a Sunday when many people have a little leisure time? . . . There is nothing wrong with football, but do we have to watch it, and nothing else, Sunday after Sunday?—G.H.F., Nesbitt, Man.

"Eye to Eye" Wins Praise

• The subject of squalor and dire need is generally greeted with cynicism and ignorance, but with pictorial directness of Eye to Eye, the matter is brought home to the viewer. This, coupled with on-the-spot factual reporting without undue dramatization of a situation, gives significant emphasis to warrant immediate remedial measures being taken. I particularly refer to the program of Tuesday, Dec. 12, (re the Indian settlement near MacGregor) and those programs relating to the slum areas of Winnipeg.

I spent some years in China, India and Egypt, and saw poverty at its very worst. To some extent this situation could be understood because of the economic conditions existing in those countries and the backwardness of the teeming millions. But one is appalled by almost parallel conditions of direst poverty and squalor existing on one's own doorstep, so to speak, in a country which enjoys the near-highest standard of living in the world.

One can only wish the Eye to Eye program, the best of its kind, the success it so richly deserves.—A.J.H., Winnipeg.

Compliments from a Historian

• I should like to congratulate (the CBC) on Red River Jamboree. I was particularly interested in your references to Alexander Hunter Murray and the Yukon. I worked with Lawrence Burpa who edited Murray's Journal of the Yukon for the Public Archives of Canada, so the story of Fort Yukon was familiar to me.

I think your stations are the only ones which consistently deal with Canadian explorers, etc. I'm sure many Canadian children are more familiar with the "exploits" of Davy Crockett than with any Canadian explorers or personalities. Thank you for your Canadian outlook. — Miss E.M.S., Ottawa.

Inquiry "Informative"

• This is a very long overdue letter, but what promoted no further delay was your program Inquiry . . . featuring Mr. Bennett's performance and report on the controversial Columbia River dispute. He has become one of the few premiers that appear to be concerned about the people of their province. I hope future programs will be as informative. . . .—J.D., Winnipeg.

Around CBC

RALPH BROWN, right, sits at his desk in his farm home at Carman and tells CBC Regional Farms Supervisor Lionel Moore, above, about his farm management practices. The feature will be part of the five-day television short course for farm people, to be presented January 15-19 by the CBC in co-operation with the Manitoba Department of Agriculture. The course, first of its kind in Canada, will be seen from 10:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon each day, Monday through Friday on CBWT, CKX-TV and CKOS-TV. Entitled "This Business of Farming," it will feature information on beef production, field crops, and farmstead planning.

Personnel working on the series, pictured above with Moore are Murray Creed (beard), producer; Myron Kupchuk, cameraman; and Des Jakovac, sound technician. Mrs. Ralph Brown also is pictured.

SECRETS OF the mystical world of sleight-of-hand will highlight "The Magic Circle," a new segment of the popular youngsters' program on CBWT and CBXT, Stop, Look and Listen. The 13-week series will feature many well-known Winnipeg magicians, each Thursday afternoon.

THE GRAND AWARDS program of CBWT's "Calling All Children" will be seen Tuesday, January 2 at 6:30 p.m. Nine weekly winners will compete for top honours and prize money.

Tap dancers Susan Whitney, Fern Derie and Joanne Ferens; accordionist Brian Blonski; violinist Randy Benson; and vocalist Diane Berger all were individual winners during the current series. Two instrumental groups round out the weekly winners to date—piano trio Jeannette La Fleche, Marie Landry and Marie Lynn Carignan; and an accordion quintette "The Playmates" (Simone Zaste, Leslie Bales, Laura Davis, Dawn Pynoo and Lynn Henrie).

A final Grand Awards contestant was to be determined from the December 26 program.

Ministry Students "Producers For a Day"

WINNIPEG students of the ministry from three denominations will learn how to put on a television show as part of a religious broadcasting workshop being held January 3, 4 and 5.

United Church, Anglican and Roman Catholic seminary students will plan religious TV productions, then learn how to put them on the air, using the facilities of CBWT Winnipeg. Technicians will show the students how to operate cameras, mikes, and telecine controls, so they will understand the possibilities and limitations of the equipment. Actual productions will be telecast on a closed circuit, not seen by the public, with members of the workshop on camera.

Instruction in religious programming will be given by several experts in the field, including Gordon Alderman, program and production manager of WHEN-TV, Syracuse, N.Y.; The Rev. Des McCalmont, TV production supervisor of the United Church, Toronto; Dan McCarthy, consultant to the Radio-Television League of St. Michael, Toronto; Gordon K. M. Montizambert, Supervisor of broadcasting, Anglican Church of Canada, Toronto; the Rev. F. W. Stone, Director of the Roman Catholic radio, TV and movie centre, Toronto; and others.

On Our Cover . . .

Dr. Geoffrey Waddington has been identified with the development of the CBC Symphony since its inception. He is one of those conducting the highly-rated orchestra Sunday on "Portrait of An Orchestra," first of an ambitious series of musical programs for Sunday television.

Religion in our Lives

THE FOURTH SERIES of Heritage, CBC television dramatized documentaries about the role religion plays in Canadian life, returns to the network this Sunday afternoon. The 13-week series offers a cross-section of religious denominations in Canada—Anglican, United, Baptist, Jewish, Greek Orthodox, Roman Catholic, Lutheran and Presbyterian.

The programs are designed to help Canadians know each other better and to show to the uncommitted or hostile that those belonging to the various religious faiths do many things which are relevant to this age.

The series is arranged by the CBC's religious programs department in co-operation with the National Religious Advisory Council. Each of the scripts has been approved by the denomination concerned as giving a faithful picture of its religious heritage. Program organizer for the series is Helen O'Brian. Producers are Rena Elmer and Ed Rollins.

The first program in the series is about the "Vanners" of the Anglican Church. On January 14, a dramatization of the work being done for youth at the United Church of Canada's Woodgreen Community Centre in Toronto will be seen. A program of church music for special occasions will be seen January 21. Church Symbols is the title and subject of the January 28 program while on February 4, a program about Baptists, titled A Place in the World, will be telecast. A comparison of marriage ceremonies in the Jewish and Greek Orthodox churches and a civil ceremony will be the content of the February 11 program. The series will not be seen February 18 but on February 25 the subject will be The Grail, a lay-movement for women in the Roman Catholic Church. Christian Unity is the title of the non-denominational program of March 4 and a Lutheran program, An Anchor in the Storm, will be seen March 11.

Within a Silence, devoted to the Quakers, is scheduled for March 18 and the following week the program will be in the form of an introduction of children to God in the home. A program of music, especially Negro spirituals will be seen April 1 while the last program of the series, on April 8, is a story about the Chinese Presbyterian church and centre in Toronto. It is entitled New Shoes for Joey.

The Vanners is the story of two young women volunteers who take an Anglican Church of Canada mission van to isolated communities in western Ontario where people are unable to attend regular church services because of a lack of such churches or too great a travelling distance to go to church. The Vanners are either regular school or church teachers or those who have had teaching experience.

These teachers travel across the country, stopping at places designated by an Anglican Church minister. Their length of stay varies from two to four days at most communities and during that time the Vanners give church services for adults, Sunday school lessons for children. They also correct lessons done by children who receive the lessons through mail-order correspondence.

Margaret, one of the two young women in the van the program follows, is portrayed by Amelia Hall. Margaret has been a Vanner in previous summer months, having travelled to such places as Peace River and the Caribou.

Fine Music Series Commences on Television

CANADIAN AND internationally renowned artists will be featured in a new 37-week series of orchestral concerts, operas, recitals and lecture-recitals beginning on CBC-TV this Sunday afternoon. The series of 60-minute concerts is the most ambitious of its type ever produced on North American television. Twenty of the programs will originate in Montreal, 11 in Toronto, four in Vancouver and two in Winnipeg.

The first program, Portrait of an Orchestra, spotlights the CBC Symphony Orchestra in a concert directed by Dr. Geoffrey Waddington, CBC director of music; Victor Feldbrill, conductor of the Winnipeg Symphony; and Wilfrid Pelletier, conductor of the Montreal and Quebec Symphonies. The history of the orchestra will be traced, and some of its members will be introduced and their careers outlined.

Pianist Glenn Gould will be featured in two programs. On January 14 he will discuss music of the U.S.S.R., and the Sinfonia String Quartet of Cleveland, Ohio, will join him for a concert of music by Russian composers. On April 8 Gould will be seen in a Bach lecture-concert with Russell Oberlin, counter-tenor, Oscar Shumsky, violinist, and a string orchestra.

Three short operas will be presented in the series: a complete performance of Riders to the Sea by Ralph Vaughan Williams, based on a play by J. M. Synge, and featuring contralto Patricia Ridout and baritone Ronald Nelson, on February 4; Bluebeard's Castle by Bela Bartok, with Jan Rubes, bass, Hanna Ludwig, soprano, and the CBC Montreal Orchestra conducted by Walter Susskind on March 18; and Savitry by Gustav Holst, performed by Nona Mari, soprano, Gerald Loswan, tenor, Robert Publow, baritone, and the CBC Winnipeg Orchestra conducted by Bernard Naylor, on May 6. Other programs will include opera excerpts from The Man in the Moon by Haydn, on January 28; Glorianna by Benjamin Britten on February 11; and Lulu by Alban Berg on March 4.

The series will include six Youth Concerts. The first, on January 21, is titled Instruments of the Orchestra. With Louis Applebaum as host and commentator, the program will offer demonstrations and discussions of some of the instruments in the CBC Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Mario Bernardi. Guests on the show will be the CBC Youth Choir conducted by Lloyd Bradshaw and pianist Ronald Turini.

Other Youth Concerts will feature young virtuosi such as Michael Rabin, violinist; Michel Dussault, pianist; Arthur Ozolins, pianist; Lise Nadeau, harpist; Julian Bream, guitarist and lutenist; Mark Jablonski, pianist; Donald Bell, baritone; Rohan de Saram, 'cellist; and such groups as the Vienna Boys Choir and the Rod McConnell jazz group.

On April 1 British composer-pianist Benjamin Britten will be seen in a lecture-recital as commentator, pianist, conductor and composer in a concert of his own works from Vancouver, which also features British tenor Peter Pears.

Other highlights of the series include an all-Haydn program from Vancouver, featuring the excerpts from the opera The Man in the Moon mentioned earlier. Performers will include Heather Thompson, soprano; Donald Brown, baritone; and the CBC Vancouver Orchestra directed by Harry Newstone.

American composer Elliott Carter will be commentator for a concert-lecture on modern chamber music on February 18. The program will include his own Sonata for Flute, Oboe, 'Cello and Harpsichord. The Winnipeg Symphony presents a concert on February 25 with Victor Feldbrill as conductor-commentator. Contemporary musical ideas will be explored on March 11 in a program by Elizabeth Benson Guy, soprano; the Juilliard String Quartet; and the CBC Symphony Orchestra conducted by Russell Stanger. The program includes The Pines of Rome by Respighi; Pacific 231 by Honegger; Lyric Suite by Berg; songs by Berg; Music for a Film Scene by Schoenberg; and Music for Harp, Strings and Percussion by Bartok.

An Easter program on April 22 will include a concert from Vancouver featuring a new work by Vancouver composer Dr. Robert Turner. And on April 29 the CBC Symphony will present a program of film music.

The Contribution Of Young Minds To Medical Science

Dr. William C. Gibson, professor of history of medicine and science at the University of British Columbia, has destroyed an established myth that all great discoveries and advancements in medicine have been made only by experienced and veteran scientists.

Dr. Gibson has made an intensive study of the research work of medical undergraduates and has found that significant discoveries were being made by students four centuries ago. In his book Young Endeavour, Dr. Gibson tells of Valerius Cordus, a German medical student who, along with Basil Valentine, described the preparation and properties of ether in 1540. (The name ether, however, pital administrator whose career is in jeopardy.

Juliette

The Ukrainian Hopak Dancers from Hamilton, Ontario, are guests to help Juliette celebrate the Ukrainian Christmas which falls on January 7. Highlighting the program is a sword dance that dates back to the Kossacks of the 16th century and the most popular of the Ukrainian dances, the Hopak. Other features on the program are:

This Can't Be Love	Juliette
The Gypsy Rover	The Romeos

CBXT—Peter Gunn

Hot Money. Gunn has to protect an ex-robber from thugs who are after some stolen money.

appears to have been applied to the drug only since the time of F. G. Frobenius who in 1730 termed it spiritus aethereus or vinum vitriolatus).

During the next 300 years after the Cordus-Valentine research, the work was carried on by other undergraduates until finally William T. G. Morton, a 23-year-old American medical student, successfully demonstrated ether anaesthesia in 1846.

"At a time of major crisis in higher education it may be advisable to take a retrospective glance into the lives of these students of medicine," says Dr. Gibson in his book. "The findings may be sufficiently interesting to stimulate young minds to independent effort and hard thinking. They might also stimulate teachers and researchers in our universities to give youthful minds entrusted to their tuition every opportunity to develop and contribute."

Dr. Gibson's book is the basis for CBC television's Discovery program this Sunday when the series returns to its regular time after an absence of a few weeks because of National Football League games. Dr. Gibson will be host for the first two programs in 1962.

This Sunday's program not only traces some discoveries of the past but also shows that the undergraduates of today continue to contribute to medical knowledge.

"We also show how medical schools attempt to stimulate the imagination and creative thought of the student so as to sharpen his desire to develop his acquired knowledge," says producer Andy Snider in Vancouver.

Program Notes

JANUARY 7

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Speaking French

Prof. Jean-Paul Vinay, head of the linguistics dept., University of Montreal, coaches a studio class in elementary French.

Country Calendar

A program dealing with father-son operation arrangement on the farm.

Concert

This new series consists of concerts, lecture-concerts, operas, and recitals, and includes six Youth Concerts, the latter featuring young artists.

The first in this series is Portrait Of An Orchestra and deals with the CBC Symphony Orchestra. History of the orchestra is traced and some of the members are introduced and their careers outlined. Conductors Geoffrey Waddington, Victor Feldbrill and Wilfred Pelletier conduct the orchestra in the following selections:

Tone poem, Don Juan	Richard Strauss
Images	Harry Freedman
Esquisses	Francois Morel
Caprice	Walter Kaufman
Symphony No. 5 1/2	Don Gillis

Heritage

The Vanners (Anglican). Two young girls take an Anglican Church of Canada mission-van to remote communities in Ontario in order to bring the church to people who can't be reached otherwise. Taking part in this story are Sharon Bonin as Phyllis, a young woman making her first attempt at mission-van work, and Amelia Hall as Margaret, who has made a trip before in the Peace River district.

Discovery

Young Endeavour. "For many reasons it is desirable that a medical student be conducted early in his career to the front line trenches of medical discovery. Let him realize that it was sometimes the inquiring minds of students like himself that made matters clear."

This statement by the late Dr. John F. Fulton, eminent biological scientist and medical historian, is the theme for this program.

Host and narrator is Dr. William C. Gibson, M.D., D. Phil. (Oxon), Professor of History of Medicine and Science at the University of British Columbia. Dr. Gibson has made an intensive study of the research work of medical undergraduates—study that has contradicted the long-held belief that all great discoveries and advancements have been made only by experienced and veteran scientists.

Taking the title and theme from Doctor Gibson's book, Young Endeavour not only traces some discoveries of the past but also shows that the undergraduates of today continue to contribute to medical knowledge.

Citizens' Forum

Federal and Provincial Control of Canada's Development. A debate by the Hon. E. Davie Fulton, minister of justice and attorney general, and the Hon. Robert Bonner, attorney general of British Columbia. This is the second part of the debate in which the audience ask questions.

Reflections

A program of music and song returning for another season. The regular cast consists of violinist Francis Chaplin, soprano Jean Marshall, baritone Clarence Fleiger, harpist Phyllis Ensher, pianist Harold Hughes, with a string orchestra under the direction of Gordon MacPherson. Host is Pat Hapier. Produced by Robert Alban.

Walt Disney Presents

Hans Brinker or The Silver Skates Story of a Dutch youth who tries to win a skating championship so that he can help his family financially because his father is disabled.

Hazel

A Replacement For Phoebe. Hazel proves her good judgment of character when she is called upon to find a new maid for the next door neighbor.

Parade

Jazz Show. A half-hour of jazz featuring pianist Errol Garner, trumpeter Maynard Ferguson, drummer Don Lamond and singers Anne Marie Moss and Jackie Paris.

Ed Sullivan Show

Ed Sullivan presents an hour-long variety show from the Moulin Rouge night club, Hollywood, California. Ed's guest is comedian Jimmy Durante.

Bonanza

The Tall Stranger. Hoss Cartwright wants to marry the banker's daughter, but she passes him up for a smooth-talking stranger who wants to marry her for her money.

Close-Up

London Private Clubs. An examination of the new and numerous London clubs that are said to be abusing the privileges enjoyed by genuine clubs in London. Under the cover of being called private clubs and charging only a nominal fee for membership, these new establishments are offering striptease shows and other entertainment that would otherwise be illegal. Many individuals have sought to close them down, but cannot legally do so.

Those giving their views include: Sir Cyril Black, M.P.; Rev. Vernon Mitchell, minister of the Anglican church in the parish of Soho; Lady Dyer, J.P.; freelance journalist Dillon McCarthy, secretary of the Moral Law Defense Organization; David Webster, journalist and TV producer.

Quest

The Morning After Mr. Roberts. A dramatized conversation between writer Bud Schulberg and Tom Hegggen, author of the book Mr. Roberts, taking place at a cocktail party in Schulberg's home. Hegggen confesses to Schulberg that his quick rise to fame and fortune with the success of Mr. Roberts is too much for him to live up to. Cast includes Jack Klugman as Schulberg, James Douglas as Hegggen, with Gordon Pinsent and Cec Linder. Produced by Harvey Hart.

CBXT-Tightrope

The Casino. Mike Connors works his way into a mob planning a fur robbery.

CBXT-TV Hour Of Stars

Siege. An escaped convict holds a teacher and her class prisoners while hiding out from the police. Stars are Elizabeth Montgomery and Paul Richards.

Victor Feldbrill, permanent conductor of the Winnipeg Symphony, is one of the guest conductors of the CBC Symphony Sunday on "Portrait of an Orchestra."

Program Notes

JANUARY 8

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

CBXT—Ladies First

Should Married Women Work? Today a panel discusses this topic. Guests are Julian Kiniski, Eve Henderson and Elaine Conroy.

Open House

On The Map. Political economist, Paul Fox, talks about a story in the news.

Our Special Guest, Anne Oldham talks about Operation Crossroads Africa, a project in which she took part last summer along with a group of young Canadians and Americans. The purpose was to establish person to person relationships between the young people of Africa and North America and to aid African governments with building projects. Miss Oldham worked in Dahomey, a former French colony just east of Nigeria, and she also visited Nigeria and Ghana.

Man From Interpol

Nest Of Vipers. Agent Anthony Smith flies to Tangiers to try and destroy a counterfeiting ring.

CBXT—Kerry Wood

Stories with a Canadian background are read to children of all ages.

Possibly man was resident in Manitoba thousands of years earlier than commonly believed, says Dick Sutton today on CBWT's "Discoveries" series.

Rob Roy

Francis Osbalidstone is accused of treason when he visits his uncle's home in Scotland.

CBWT—Discoveries

Man And Mammoth. Adding another facet to this Manitoba history, Dick Sutton makes discoveries about man in our province. That man was here much earlier than previously believed is evidenced by a mammoth bone which may well have been worked on whilst green. Man with stone and what he left behind is seen in museum specimens.

CBXT—Learn To Ski

Beginning a 12 week course of ski lessons and demonstrations filmed on location at the Edmonton Ski Club slopes. The instructor for this series is Bob Lang, President of the Edmonton Ski Club.

Don Messer's Jubilee

Guest is Hal Lonepine from Western Canada who sings his own composition.

Highlights in the program are:

Prince Edward Island Is Heaven to Me... Hal
Helen Polka... Marg Osburne
Clancy Lowered the Boom... Charlie Chamberlain
Just a Closer Walk with Thee... quiet-time song

Live A Borrowed Life

The regular panelists Bill Walker and Elwy Yost are joined by guests Bernard Slade and his actress wife, Jill Foster. Charles Templeton is moderator.

Festival

The Day of the Dodo, by Ron Boorne. A taut drama about people engaged in an aeronautics project. Produced by George McCowan. Stars are William Needles, Bruno Gerussi, Kate Reid and John Drainie with a cast including Norman Welsh, Ed McNamara, Arch McDonnell, and Larry Zahab.

CBXT—Naked City

Well Dressed Termite. A man is electrocuted while tapping a telephone line and this begins a pattern of murder and doublecross.

Sviatoslav Richter

ONE OF THE world's most brilliant artists, Sviatoslav Richter, who had been celebrated for years as the greatest living Soviet pianist before he began collecting exuberant international accolades 18 months ago, will be heard in a CBC Wednesday Night recital this week at 8:30 on CBC radio.

Richter is a blond, intense, giant of a man with the huge hands of a steelworker — he can span an octave with his index and little fingers — and a phenomenal memory — he can play 15 new programs each season. He's such a perfectionist that nothing pleases him. After a concert or a recording session he always feels he could have done better. "My little finger has sinned" is his usual comment on his own work. He spends many hours practicing, and says he plays best in really hot weather. If he isn't in what he calls the right mood to approach a composer, he may not play at all.

Audiences never bother him — he seems unaware of them, surrounding himself with a solitude he

Open House

A Short History Of Footwear. It seems that there is nothing new under the sun, and shoes are no exception. The shoes we wear today, the new designs we'll wear next year—all seem copies and adaptations of the shoes our ancestors wore. Today we look at some of the fads and fashions in footwear throughout the ages. Script and research are by Isobel Chvostek.

Footwear Today. A foot specialist talks about the effects of modern footwear on our feet and a shoe manufacturer talks about shoe design.

National Schools Telecast

A Friend To His Country. This film shows William Lyon Mackenzie following his most decisive election victory, his later defeat, his flight to the border, his imprisonment, and his self-imposed exile in the United States. Scenes in prison show a warm and human portrayal of a man who is fully sensitive to the hardships and sacrifices that his convictions have cost his family.

CBWT—Gateway To Government

Host Jim Mitchell looks at the operations of the Manitoba Hydro, and a film on the building of the power installation at Kelsey, Manitoba is shown. Engineers from Manitoba Hydro explain the principle of generating electricity; a model of a turbine generator is explained, and future developments of hydro in Manitoba are shown. Two students from Kelvin

High School in Winnipeg are featured at the conclusion of the program in a discussion with Manitoba Hydro engineers.

CBXT—Town Topics

Weekly interviews with members of the civic administration. This week the special guest is Alan MacDonald, City Solicitor.

CBXT—Gateway

Tonight Bob Quintrell interviews Hugh Carleton Green, Director General of the British Broadcasting Corporation about the number of important responsibilities of a publicly owned broadcasting system.

The Lively Arts

A program featuring Paul Anka, popular Canadian recording artist.

CBWT—A Song For You

Special guest Peggy Neville joins Jose Poneira for 15 minutes of popular tunes. Their selections are as follows:

St. Marta .....	Jose
When Your Lover Has Gone .....	Peggy
A Gershwin medley:
Liza
Who Cares
Swanee
It's Wonderful .....	Jose
I May Be Wrong .....	Peggy and Jose

SVIATOSLAV RICHTER

creates with deep concentration — sometimes he seems so oblivious of the fact that someone is listening to him that he appears to be practicing. "I don't consider the public," he says. "My whole interest is my encounter with the composer, with his music." Sometimes he plays savagely, bending his arms strangely at his side as he leans over the keyboard, seemingly ripping sound out of the piano. Other times he bends backward, his head thrown back and his arms stretched straight out to the piano. He is subject to deep fits of depression, and has been known to remain in the concert hall after the audience has left and repeat the whole program for his own benefit.

He also appears to be a man of principle and courage. The day after the controversial Russian writer and Nobel Prize-winner Boris Pasternak died in disgrace, Richter went to Pasternak's country home and gave a Beethoven concert for thousands of other Russians and foreign correspondents. Richter's only comment was: "He was my friend."

Richter was born of German parents in the small Ukrainian town of Zhitomar, 47 years ago. He comes from a long line of professional musicians. His grandfather was a piano-tuner. His father was a graduate of the Vienna Conservatory and was a music teacher, organist, pianist and composer. Richter senior did not want young Slava to be a musician. Mrs. Richter insisted, and the boy could play the piano well by the time he was eight—but he and his father could never agree about piano technique. He gave his first public recital at 19. He was then studying conducting at the Odessa Conservatory. But after three years there he decided he wasn't cut out for a career on the podium.

His friends suggested that he become a professional pianist, so in 1937 he went to Moscow to consult the doyen of Russian piano teachers, Heinrich Neuhaus, who accepted him as a pupil. "In half a year," Richter recalls, "Neuhaus freed my hands—really liberated them. For that reason he is more than a teacher or friend to me."

Of his famous pupil, Neuhaus says: "All music, all the finest music, rests—like the infant in the arms of Raphael's Madonna—within his skull, which reminds one of domes built by Bramante and Michelangelo."

After four years of study and practicing, Richter made his Moscow debut, giving the first public performance of his friend Prokofieff's Piano Sonata No. 6. Immediately he was hailed as a prodigy.

Until recently Richter was known outside Russia only through recordings. When impressarios urged him to tour other countries, he said: "There are still many Russian towns in which I've never played." But finally, in 1960, he was persuaded to undertake a tour of the United States. Aside from an appearance in Finland, it was his first appearance outside the Soviet Union. As soon as his North American visit was announced, his first five concerts were sold out on the spot. He took his audience by storm everywhere he went. Even critics began playing his recordings for mere pleasure.

Explorations

Portraits Of The Thirties—Part Two. The second program in this series is about former premier William Aberhart of Alberta, who campaigned on a social credit platform and was first elected in August, 1935. His party swept 56 of 63 seats in the Alberta legislature on a platform calling for government control of banks and financial institutions and increasing the people's purchasing power through credit. One of his proposals was that the government pay each adult $25 a month, not in cash, but in credit backed by the government.

Aberhart, the son of a Southern Ontario farmer, was faced with the decision of whether to be a teacher or a preacher. He chose the classroom and in 1910 went west to teach in Alberta. He soon became principal of the Crescent Heights high school in Calgary. But the preacher in him never gave up and he founded the Prophetic Bible Institute in Calgary.

Among those to be seen on the program are his daughter, Mrs. Ola MacNutt of Calgary; Miss Florence Todd, a teacher at Crescent Heights at the time Aberhart was principal; Floyd Baker, now a Social Credit member of the Alberta Legislature; A. V. Bourcier, a school teacher who taught in the Lac St. Ann district in the early '30's; and journalist Fred Kennedy, who was with the Calgary Herald during the 1935 election campaign. Narrator for the series is Professor John Saywell of the history department, University of Toronto. Producer is Jim Murray.

Program Notes

JANUARY 11

See also page 4 of next week's issue for possible changes in these notes and additional program information

Open House

Madame Benoit's Cooking School. Madame Benoit says that for a quick, light and delicious hurry-up dessert that can be eaten hot or chilled, few can compare with soft custard. Today she gives recipes for liquid, set and cream custards.

Help Wanted. Psychologist Dr. Margery King discusses the questions sent to her by viewers.

National Schools Telecast

The Symphony Orchestra. Dr. Gilday gives a review of the four orchestral families and the various instruments which comprise them. Under the direction of Marvin Rabson, the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra performs two works:

Danse Mosaicque _____ Kenneth Wright
Introduction and Rondo

Scientists
today on
The Nature of Things

Dick Tracy

Down The Drain. Dick Tracy and Joe Jitsu fly to Paris on the trail of Sketch Paree and the Mole.

The Nature Of Things

The Revealing Eye. A scientist often has a motion picture camera by his side in studying experiments. This film shows some of the things the camera has watched since it was used for this purpose in the late 19th century. Host is Donald Crowdis, Curator, Nova Scotia Science Museum. The Revealing Eye is a production of the Shell film unit.

CBXT—Two Faces West

Portrait of Bravery. Charles Bateman stars in the dual role of Rick and Ben January.

E. G. Marshall plays a defence attorney with a strong desire to do what is right, on The Defenders Thursdays.

Edmontonians. Host is Colin MacLean. Produced by Don R. McRae.

The Defenders

Featuring E. G. Marshall and Robert Reed as a father and son lawyer team in a series of trials in which they endeavour to uphold justice in the criminal courts. The series is based on Reginald Rose's 1957 murder trial story "The Defender." Rose acts as script editor and writes some episodes himself.

The Accident. The two attorneys attempt to defend a young woman charged with a hit-and-run accident.

CBWT—Ben Casey

An hour-long dramatic series featuring a young resident in neurosurgery at a large metropolitan hospital. Series details in authentic terms the story of professional and personal problems of young doctors in training. Starring Vincent Edwards as Dr. Ben Casey.

Viewpoint

A five-minute program of freely-expressed opinion on a matter of national importance.

With Heart and Mind

"We have it within our power to do extraordinary things if we want to. The question is, do we want to? It is not merely a question of will; it is a question of extreme intelligence. We have to use the maximum of intelligence and the maximum of goodwill to solve these problems: we have carefully to think out what is going to happen and then have the desire to do it."—Aldous Huxley speaking on BBC television.

My Three Sons

Fred McMurray and William Frawley star in this heart-warming and humorous series about a widower who must solve the problems connected with raising three sons.

CBXT—Eye To Eye

A series of documentary films covering a large variety of topics—always informative, sometimes controversial, accenting Edmonton and

Broken Contact

"In the days of hand skills the maker was also the designer, and the consumer shared the craftsman's values because he understood well the limits and potentialities of the craftsman's tools and materials. Industrialization has destroyed this relationship, so that the craftsman has become merely a designer and the consumer merely accepts or rejects, his judgments being based on commercial pressure rather than knowledge." — David Medd, British architect, speaking on the BBC.

Science and the unknown . . .

Explorations in the world of science and the unknown reaches of the world are the feature of this week's programming, with three regular science series taking the added backing of a feature movie.

Sunday, January 7 at 3:30, the feature presentation will be "Dr. Laennec", a French-produced biography featuring Pierre Blanchard, Mireille Perrey and Jany Holt. The film, directed by Maurice Cloche, tells of René Laennec's fight against the sceptics in his 19th century campaign against tuberculosis and his remarkable discovery; the stethoscope. Dr. Laennec died in his native province of Britany, of the disease he had fought so hard to control.

Monday, January 8, at 6:30 on the program "A la pointe de l'exploration," guest will be the famous explorer Paul-Emile Victor.

He will speak on his 1934 expedition in Greenland, on the vessel "Pourquoi pas?" (Why not?) with commander Charcot and his crew. The purpose of the expedition was to study the living habits of the Eskimos. The countless perils of Victor's expedition—and his surprising discoveries—are told in filmed excerpts and from the explorer's notes, in the second part of this interesting documentary.

Tuesday evening, January 9, at 10:30 p.m., a new series titled "L'homme devant la science" (Man in the face of Science) begins with professor Fernand Seguin as host. Intended not only as a scientific series but a human study as well, "L'homme devant la science" poses the problem of man's discoveries of the modern age as compared . . . or opposed to his conscience and responsibilities. The program will be presented as a series of 26 episodes, each dealing with one or more of the complex and pace-setting discoveries of this day and age.

Another regular scientific series is "Au bout du monde," seen on Channel 6 Wednesday evenings at 6:30, and primarily intended for teen-age classes. In this series, bearing, as with "A la

How Does 'the Other Man' Worship?

This new series on University of the Air investigates the major religions of the world, and their effect on the thinking of believers

IMPROVEMENTS in communications and travel have helped make modern man more aware that he is living in a world of plural religions. But while he is often vaguely familiar with the customs of other men's religions—the physical characteristics that give them distinction, colour, immediacy—he rarely has a clear understanding of the abiding faith that makes them whole, that has helped them survive the jolts of centuries.

Starting Monday night at 10:30, CBC radio's University of the Air presents a series of seven lectures in comparative religion, titled The Faith of Other Men, in which a leading Canadian authority on the world's great religions will give insight into their special faiths in laymen's terms.

The speaker will be Dr. Wilfred Cantwell Smith, Birks Professor of Comparative Religion at McGill University and director of the Institute of Islamic Studies at McGill.

Dr. Smith points out that he is not offering the sort of historical information about other men's religious customs and beliefs readily available in books. He says: "Instead of setting out to get you to understand Buddhism, for instance, I want to help you to see the world as a Buddhist sees it. Looking at Buddhism may not necessarily help you to do this, so what we want to do is to look at the world through Buddhist eyes."

In each of the major religious traditions of mankind Dr. Smith will explore a particular symbol associated with it to discover its special significance for the men and women of that faith.

In his first lecture, which will serve as an introduction to the series, Dr. Smith will consider some of the problems that arise when man attempts to understand the complexities of other men's faith.

On January 15 he considers the Hindu faith, Hinduism is found mainly among peoples in India, but there are numerous Hindus in South Africa, Trinidad, and a few thousands in Ceylon, Burma and Malaya. Its origins are uncertain. Unlike many other major religions, authorities tell us, Hinduism did not begin with the teaching of any one person, but seems to have developed from the various religions of ancient India. Writings and teachings of several teachers and prophets through the centuries have left their stamp on Hinduism. Hindu teachers are highly revered and looked upon as reincarnations of divinity. The Hindu language—Sanskrit—has no exact word for "religion." The corresponding Hindu term conveys ideas like duty, right, good works.

The Hindu symbol Dr. Smith has chosen to discuss is a Sanskrit phrase—tat tvam asi—expressing the equation that the human soul is Brahman, the source and the giver of life, the ultimate reality lying

SPORTS

With the champions, broken records, surprises and disappointments of another 12-month period in the world of sport now behind us, the sporting crowd the world over hopefully looks ahead to 1962, harbouring hopes of even bigger and better thrills.

And in most cases, CBC Television will bring all the excitement of the world's major sporting events right into your living room.

On Saturday, January 6, CBC Television embarks on a new golfing series, entitled the "Wonderful World of Golf." Gene Sarazen, who in past years stacked his trophy cabinet with a variety of silverware, will provide the commentary. The matches in this series are played at many of the world's best golf courses, including the fine 18-hole layout in Banff National Park. Each week a top professional from the country visited competes against a top professional from the United States. This Saturday we journey across the pond to Wentworth, England, where Dai Rees is matched against American Jerry Barber.

That same afternoon Cross Canada Curling moves a step closer to declaring a champion, with John David Lyon of Manitoba matching shots with Brier and Scotch Cup champion Hec Gervais of Alberta. This should be a dandy. Gervais and company sidelined the Tony Folk foursome from British Columbia 8-5 to reach the western final, while Lyon and his mates shaded Jack Keyes of Saskatchewan on an extra end. The Manitoba foursome consists of skip Lyon; third, Leroy Herman; second, Bill Zaporzan and lead, Leo Kelch.

Tossing granite with Gervais are third Ron Anton; second, Ray Werner; and lead, Wally Ursuliak. An added feature of the match is that both skips are "big" men in the weight department as well as being fine shot-makers. Gervais tips the toledos at 262 pounds, while Lyon checks in a shade lighter at 245 pounds. The winner of the Manitoba-Alberta match meets the

METROPOLITAN OPERA

La Fanciulla Del West (The Girl of the Golden West)—Opera in three acts. Music by Giacomo Puccini from the drama by David Belasco.

Time: 1849-50. Place: California.

Cast includes: Minnie—soprano; Jack Rance, sheriff—baritone; Dick Johnson—tenor; Ashby, express agent—bass; Sonora—baritone; Trin, Sid, Harry, Joe, Happy, Larkens, all miners—3 baritones, 3 tenors and a bass. Billy Jackrabbit, an Indian, bass; Wowkle, his squaw—mezzo-soprano; Jack Wallace, a travelling minstrel—baritone; Jose Castro, a Mexican—bass; Postilion—tenor; Miners, etc.

ACT I. The Polka, a miner's saloon and dance hall. Nick the bartender is telling the miners that Minnie is partial to him. The miners join in a song of home with Jake Wallace, and Larkens, completely overcome, begins to sob. Ashby enters boasting that he will soon catch Ramerrez. The miners then drink a toast to Minnie. Sonora insults Rance and there is a scuffle. Minnie enters and the miners leave and she is left alone with Rance who attempts to make love to her. A stranger enters who calls himself Dick Johnson from Sacramento. It is obvious that Minnie has known him from a previous encounter. Jealously, Rance demands to know Johnson's business when Castro is brought in about to be hung and offers to show the men Ramerrez's hiding place. He manages to get a word with Johnson about a certain signal and all the miners join in the hunt. Minnie, left alone with Johnson, confides that in him she finds something which helps and makes her happy. He explains this feeling as love, and proclaims that he has the same emotions. Minnie invites him to come to see her later at her cabin.

ACT II. Minnie's cabin one hour later. During a heavy snow storm Johnson arrives at the cabin. Wowkle the squaw is present with her pappoose. Johnson declares passionately that he will never leave Minnie. She is thoroughly convinced, and gives him her bed, and lying down before the fire, prays. Rance enters with the miners to tell her that they have tracked Ramerrez to her cabin. She hides Johnson behind the bed curtains and tells Rance that he is not there and they depart. She is contemptuous of Johnson and orders him to leave. He has betrayed her trust and robbed her of her first kiss. As he leaves there is a pistol shot and the sound of a fall. Johnson re-enters and Minnie helps him up a ladder and into the loft. Rance returns to arrest Johnson as Ramerrez. Again she denies that he is there and she seizes her in his arms but she attacks him with a bottle. From the loft, drops of blood reveal the hiding place of Johnson, who descends and faints. A poker game is played between Minnie and Rance, the stakes of which are to be hers and Johnson's freedom against her marriage with Rance, and Johnson's surrender. They begin to play with feverish haste, deciding upon the best two hands out of three. Minnie wheedles Rance, and pretends that she is faint. While he is looking for whiskey to revive her, she stacks the cards from her stocking and thus wins the game. Rance in a rage, gets up and goes out. Minnie laughing wildly throws her arms around her lover.

ACT III. The Great California Forest, at early dawn. Rance is seen gloating over the impending capture which will mean his revenge. Sonora arrives, bringing the news of the bandit's capture, and Billy appears with a rope.

Johnson is brought in and insulted by both Rance and the miners. He begs that Minnie shall not know how he met his death and advances quietly to the tree where Billy waits with the noose.

Minnie arrives to protect Johnson with her pistol. Sonora takes her side as Minnie pleads for Johnson's life. They are heartbroken because Johnson has robbed them of her. They are cajoled into forgiveness and bid Minnie and her lover a fond farewell.

perts (including yours truly) predicted. And the Rangers have been particularly troublesome for the front-running Canadiens.

Perhaps one reason is New York playing coach Doug Harvey.

From what this writer's bulbs have witnessed on the cathode tube Harvey appears to give forth with that extra effort when skating against his former teammates. I don't think there is any doubt that Harvey has been the inspiration behind the Rangers this season.

Despite his years he still performs brilliantly back on the blueline.

And the Rangers, with Harvey tutoring, also appear to have adopted a style of play similar to that used so effectively by the Canadiens. In addition, as many of the New York players have commented, Harvey seems to be a "players' type of coach."

Golf, curling and hockey should produce a most entertaining bill of fare, Saturday, January 6, on the CBC television network.

HOW DOES "THE OTHER MAN" WORSHIP?

behind all phenomena and all ideas. Dr. Smith explores the formula, seemingly so radically different from Western attitudes that perceive God as utterly different from man, to clarify some of its religious and moral implications. And he will help the "outsider" to understand the insight that is involved in Hinduism, and to consider how far differences in form in religion may run parallel with similarity of content.

The January 22 program is about Buddhism, founded in India in the sixth century B.C., by Buddha and spread now to many nations. Buddha, born Prince Siddharta in 568 B.C., led a revolt against formalism in the Hinduism of India. Renouncing his royal rights he set out to find the Truth that would be man's salvation. He wandered for seven years, talked to leading thinkers and holy men, and practiced a highly disciplined life of meditation. On his return, history says, he was recognized as the holy, perfect, wise one, and he began teaching the way to immortality, or Nirvana. Today Buddhists refer to him as the great example, but each Buddhist is called to seek his own enlightenment through selflessness and peace.

Dr. Smith discusses a ceremony from the Theravadin or southern Buddhist tradition: the Shin-byu ceremony in a Burmese village, in which an adolescent boy is formally initiated into his community and its religious life by "going out" as the Buddha himself went out from the opulent life of his father's palace to the spiritual quest that led through renunciation to enlightenment. Dr. Smith also considers briefly what is (or may be) meant by the "truth" of religious symbols.

On January 29 Dr. Smith analyses the classic two-phrase "creed" of Islam: "There is no god but God. Muhammad is the apostle of God." He considers the function of this verbal image and the relation of belief to faith. Then he explores the meaning of each of the two phrases: what it means to a Muslim to affirm faith in one God, and what it means to him to see Muhammad as "prophet."

The Islamic religion was founded by Muhammad (570-632 A.D.) and its followers are called Muslims (or Moslems in the Western world). Muhammad was born in Mecca, in Arabia. He had some knowledge of Judaism and Christianity, which influenced his teachings on judgment, resurrection, and future life. In 622, when he was 52, he had a dispute with the people of Mecca over idols, and fled to Medina, where he became a powerful influence, preaching the worship of one god, Allah. A century after his death Islam had spread over a vast area from India to Spain.

On February 5 Dr. Smith discusses the yin-yang symbol of the Chinese. This image is more ancient in China than the Confucian and Taoist traditions, in both of which it has come to be used. Dr. Smith will interpret it in such a way that the listener should be able to see the world as a Chinese sees it—with particular reference to his dualism of complement, as opposed to the dualism of conflict familiar in the West.

Dr. Smith's February 12 talk will be on Jews and Christians. Instead of discussing their traditions he

A Privilege of Childhood

"Children are fickle. They are bound to be, because they are not governed by logic, or consideration for others. Nor are their opinions based on deep or lasting convictions. An avowed decision today can be completely reversed next week. It is one of the delightful privileges of childhood."—Elizabeth Farnham speaking on the BBC "Woman's Hour" program.

FRENCH TV HIGHLIGHTS

pointe de l'exploration" on great discoveries, the accent is on the uncharted . . . the unexpected findings of young amateur discoverers, a fact which accounts for the "adventure" and excitement not generally found in documentaries of this type.

Finally, we could list in the "scientific" as well as the artistic category, two excellent Arts programs seen regularly on this channel.

They are, first: "Présence de l'Art" featured Sunday evenings at 11:30, and which deals with Art as a useful and necessary part of everyday life; example: baby's toys . . . or the automobile.

Fridays at 7:30 p.m. "L'Art et son secret" deals with important masterpieces of different periods, how they came about, the techniques employed by the artists, and techniques of preservation and maintenance.

Commentator is René Huyghe, of the Académie Française, professor the Collège de France.

Here are some of the works that will come up for analysis during the next few weeks. January 12: "The burial of Phocion" by Poussin; January 19: "The anatomy lesson" by Rembrandt; February 16: "Charles IVth's family by Goya; and February 23: "Medusa on a raft" by Géricault.

Week's Thursday Spectacular

Thursday January 11 at 9:00, under the title "Le Lac des Cygnes," L'Heure du Concert presents a repeat performance of "The Swan Lake Ballet" by Peter Ilyitch Tchaikowsky, seen earlier in December on Channel 3. Prima ballerina Lois Smith and David Adams are featured soloists with the National Ballet of Canada.

Up-and-coming features

Finally, here is a brief insight of coming spectaculars: January 18 (Thursday), a 60-minute Jazz concert by the Michel Legrand orchestra of France; January 21 (Sunday): "Revue," a special variety program that will replace Music Hall.

Ogden Nash.

"Elephants are very useful friends, Equipped with handles at both ends."

For some 25 years Ogden Nash has turned out the light verses that have made him a well-known humourist and satirist. He's not sure whether he has had 13 or 14 volumes of verse published, but it's certain that he collaborated with S. J. Perlman in writing the lyrics for the Broadway hit musical One Touch of Venus. Doris Dickson interviews him in Detroit.

Mrs. Lewis was born in Yarmouth County, Nova Scotia. Although her arms are withered as a result of being stricken by polio as a child, she began to paint at the age of 18 and has been painting ever since. Mrs. Lewis has never had a lesson and has never attended an art exhibition. Her subjects are outdoor scenes and she is described as an unspoiled primitive. Cora Greenaway talks about Mrs. Lewis and her work.

HOW DOES 'THE OTHER MAN' WORSHIP?

will consider how other men's faith influences these communities, and the growing awareness and appreciation in our society of that faith in all its diversity. He talks about personal involvement, theological doctrine and moral imperative.

In his concluding talk, on February 19, Dr. Smith discusses religious diversity and one world. Can our growing world society become a world community? How does this question implicate religious faith? Must men choose between loyalty to their own community and its faith, and loyalty to mankind as a total brotherhood?

Dr. Smith has had a distinguished career as a scholar and teacher. He was born in Toronto in 1916 and was educated in Grenoble, France, and at Upper Canada College in Toronto. He studied Oriental languages at the University of Toronto (B.A.) obtained his M.A. and Ph.D. at Princeton University, and studied also at the Université de Grenoble, the Universidad de Madrid, the American University in Cairo, and Cambridge University.

From 1940 to 1949 he served among the Muslims, chiefly in Lahore, India (now Pakistan), as a representative of the Canadian Overseas Missions Council. During this time he lectured in Indian and Islamic history at Forman Christian College and the University of the Punjab in Lahore. In 1949, when McGill established a Faculty of Divinity, Dr. Smith was invited to the chair he now holds as Birks Professor of Comparative Religion. In 1952 the University established the Institute of Islamic Studies, with him as director. It attracts scholars and students from all parts of the Muslim world.

Dr. Smith has published numerous articles and pamphlets on the theory of comparative religion and on current Islamic affairs and history. He is the author of Islam in Modern History and Modern Islam in India. He travels regularly through the Muslim world. Dr. Smith is an ordained minister of the United Church of Canada, and is advisory editor of The Muslim World published in Hartford, Conn., and of The Middle East Journal, published in Washington, D.C. He is vice-president of the American Society for the Study of Religion, a member of the Humanities Research Council of Canada, and is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada.

At The United Nations. Kathleen Teltsch, United Nations correspondent for the New York Times, gives her regular weekly report on activities at the U.N.

Let's Be Frank. Betty Shapiro of Montreal answers letters from listeners about personal problems.

Books I've Been Reading. Betty Henderson, Librarian at Regina College, Saskatchewan, tells listeners about some more of the books she's been reading.

Nichols And May. Mike Nichols and Elaine May do not like to be interviewed about themselves. So during their recent visit to Toronto, Edna May of the CBC told them to carry on in their own inimitable style and this is the result.

They became partners in their university days in Chicago and have been performing together for several years. They are temporarily departing from their usual style in the spring when Mike Nichols will star on Broadway in a play written by Elaine May.

Daily Features. News commentary is read by Richard Gwyn of Ottawa; Paul Kligman continues the reading of The Education Of Hyman Kaplan by Leonard Q. Ross.

COOK'S TOUR

with Mat Gauer

STOLLEN FESTIVE BREAD

8 cups flour
 1 pint lukewarm milk
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 dehydrated yeast cakes
 1 cup sugar
 ¼ tsp. nutmeg
 4 eggs
 1 lb. softened butter
 ½ lb. white raisins
 ¼ lb. cherries (halved)
 ¼ cup rum
 ½ lb. chopped almonds
 ½ lb. glazed fruits (chopped)
 Grated rind of 1 lemon
 (Cherries optional)

Set the yeast with lukewarm milk, stir in 1 cup of flour. Let rise.

Cream butter with sugar, add eggs one at a time and beat well. Add lemon rind. Combine the yeast and creamed mixture, add flour, and nutmeg and knead until smooth and elastic.

Sprinkle flour over fruit, mix and add to dough. Let rise in a warm place until double in bulk.

Toss on floured board, then divide into 3 or more loaves. Roll each piece out slightly, spread top with melted butter, press down centre and fold over double.

Brush melted butter over top. Put into greased pans and let rise again until doubled. Bake 350° for 45 minutes. May be iced when cool.

Host of Country Hoedown

Cousin Clem's No Hick

GORDIE TAPP, known for his characterization of Cousin Clem on CBC-TV's Country Hoedown, is one of the most versatile, experienced performers in Canadian show business.

On Hoedown, Tapp is host, helps write the script, sings, dances, clowns and occasionally strums a guitar.

"I auditioned Gordie when the Hoedown series started six years ago," says producer Drew Crossan, "and I'm happy about having this versatile performer as host, now that I'm again producing the show."

Tapp has been an entertainer for most of his 39 years. Born in London, Ont., at the age of five he gave some indication that his future interests might lie in show business—by playing in a school harmonica band. While attending high school he sang and played at school dances and concerts.

Tapp left school to join the army when 19, served with an entertainment unit for four years, then entertained troops being repatriated from Hong Kong on hospital ships. During this tour of duty he decided to make show business his career.

Discharged from the army in 1946, Tapp completed his high-school education, then enrolled at Lorne Greene's radio academy in Toronto. There, he first met another veteran who was to affect profoundly his later career—Drew Crossan.

Gordie did radio work in Niagara Falls, Guelph, and Hamilton, Ont. While working in Hamilton, he toured Ontario as host and comic with Sunday-night variety shows and developed his now-famous characters, Cousin Clem and Gaylord.

Tapp later used these characterizations on a popular Hamilton TV show, Main Street Jamboree, and on a radio series entitled What's on Tapp?, on which he satirized the local scene.

This led to an audition for a new CBC-TV variety show, Country Hoedown. He won a part, and has been on the series for six years. He has also appeared on the Tommy Hunter Show, 'Cross-Canada Hit Parade and P.M. Party, as well as making personal appearances at fairs and special events across Canada.

GORDIE TAPP

Gordie and his wife, Helen, live in Burlington, Ont., near Hamilton. They have four children, Babs, 14; Cathy, 11; Joan, 9; and Jeffrey, 5.

Appropriately enough for a star of a country and western show, Tapp loves horses; he keeps a stable of three hunters and jumpers and rides at every opportunity.
